CARL DIDN'T SPEAK

Talk Prepared For Bates Student Body Cancelled—Being Criticized

Congressman Moran, who was scheduled to speak at the first chapel at Bates College, today found it necessary to cancel his engagement. President Gray who announced the change would not comment.

"I have nothing to say," said Dr. Gray. It was known that President Gray was disturbed at the speech of Representative Moran's tenor to the freshmen at Bowdoin College Tuesday when he attacked the opponents of the New Deal in the most biting terms, calling them paid hirelings of the interests, and remarked that the concern over changing the U. S. Constitution was a smokescreen—that the "Constitution and the flag" were a refuge for scoundrels.

President Gray considered the speech somewhat political and unsuited for a college chapel. Moran was criticized by local Bowdoin alumni who classified the Bowdoin address as an out and out Democratic speech—altogether in good taste at a rally but not fit for the occasion of welcoming freshmen.

MRS. MILES HOSTESS

To the Educational Club, When Interesting Program Is Presented

The Woman's Educational Club, when entertained at the home of Mrs. Minnie Miles, devoted much of the afternoon session to papers, one of which was by Mrs. Zada Winslow entitled, "The Social Security Bill." This bill has been passed by Congress and signed by the President. It provides aid from the State to persons 65 and older who have no other means of support. Old age pension provisions have now been adopted by 30 States.

Mrs. William Babcock of Glen Cove read, "That Old Sweetheart of Mine" and several other selections. Mr. and Mrs. Babcock have crossed the continent four times since May and have recently made a trip to California. An interesting article on "The Roosevelt Administration" was read by Mrs. Nettie Stewart, the composition work of James P. Warburg, who stated therein, "I should say Mr. Roosevelt's purposes consist of three major elements: The desire to be a hero; the desire to give everyone a more abundant life; and the desire to be clever. There are, in Roosevelt's program, items I am thoroughly in sympathy with. I believe in better working conditions, the abolition of child labor, and in social insurance and bank reform."

A picnic supper had been arranged for 6 o'clock and during this hour a three-piece orchestra, Dudley Harvie, piano; Marion Harvie, trumpet; and Emma Harvie, violin, played several numbers. Patriotic devotions, with which the evening meeting opened, were led by Mrs. Lena Merrill, Miss Bertha Orbeton, Miss Marion Harvie, Miss Elizabeth Marsh and Mrs. Mabel Wiley.

Mrs. E. M. Lawrence spoke on the propagation of flowers which was of great interest, the subject being discussed by members following the address. Attention was drawn to the unsightly burdocks which are so common along the streets at this time of year. If these were cut down before the blossoms formed they would prove less troublesome the succeeding year. Rev. C. H. B. Seliger, a former pastor of the Congregational Church in Union, employed as his topic, "Socialism." Explaining this subject in part, he said Socialists believe all industries should be in the hands of the government. They do not stand for the division of wealth but assert that all should have an equal chance to earn a living. An instructive open forum followed this feature, remarks being made by E. M. Lawrence and other members.

The next picnic will be at the home of Mrs. Alice Hall, the date to be announced.

A RUNAWAY HORSE

Appleton Student Who Tried To Stop Him Goes To the Infirmary

An attempt to capture a runaway horse sent Walter Sproul, of Appleton, a freshman, to the University of Maine infirmary Tuesday with abrasions and bruises about the face and body.

Observers said Sproul jumped in front of the horse, hitched to a garbage cart as it charged down the southern end of the campus, but was thrown between the wheels which passed over his body.

Dr. Tomlinson, Orono physician, treated the student for a cut lip and face and bruises to both his knee and hip. The injuries were nothing serious, he said.

Another freshman had tried to stop the horse after it had become frightened and broken from its driver before Sproul. It was captured a few moments later without difficulty.

WAGE SCALE FIXED

Unskilled Men On W.P.A. Will Get $48 a Month.—Highest $69.

Albert Abrahamson, State WPA administrator says that a wage scale of from $44 to $83 monthly will prevail for workers on WPA projects in Maine.

Cumberland County led the list with a $52 monthly wage for unskilled workers, $60 for semi-skilled, $75 for skilled and $83 for professional workers. Two counties, Androscoggin, and Penobscot, were in the next wage scale, with unskilled workers listed at a $48 monthly wage, semi-skilled at $55, skilled at $70 and professional and technical workers at $77.

In the remaining counties, $44 monthly would be paid unskilled workers; $50, semi-skilled; $63, skilled; and $69, professional and technical workers.

These amounts, Abrahamson said, he could make subject to an adjustment within 10 percent range. Abrahamson said a maximum of 140 hours monthly for workers has been set for the State, with no more than 40 hours in one week, nor more than eight hours a day.

The wages, Abrahamson said, would be in the nature of a salary, so that inability of a wage-earner to work because of adverse weather or other factors beyond his control would not affect his pay.

SENTENCED FOR LIFE

With the First Two Hours Thereof Spent In Thomaston Prison

Mrs. Mary E. Morrill of Portland, who was convicted in Cumberland County Superior Court of slaying her husband with an axe, and sentenced to the Thomaston State Prison for life, arrived there shortly before 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but spent less than two hours in the institution. A law passed by the last Legislature provides that a feminine prisoner sent to Thomaston, may be transferred to the Woman's Reformatory at Skowhegan, and thither she was taken by the prison's assistant clerk, Ronald LaChance, and Mrs. LaChance, who had brought her from Portland.

Mrs. Morrill was fingerprinted and given the number 6483. She ate dinner in the guard house without removing her hat, and the only time that she dropped her dull and morose manner was when the officials announced that she would leave that afternoon for the Woman's Reformatory. It will not be a new home for her, as she has served there before, and has a daughter of 14 who is also an inmate of the Reformatory. She also has a son who is an inmate of the School for Feeble Minded at Pownal.

Mrs. Morrill was convicted last week of killing her husband with an axe in self-defense, but that she did not remember events following the incident.

James Morrill, her 11-year-old son, and chief witness for the State, testified he helped his mother bury his father's body in the cellar of their home.

ROCKET RESEARCH

Col. Lindbergh Has Been Down In New Mexico Studying Experiment

A despatch from Roswell, New Mexico, in the Tuesday evening papers said:

"Col. Charles A. Lindbergh found rocket research so engrossing today that he planned to draft a summary of his views after renewing his dawn to dusk study of Dr. Robert H. Goddard's plan to concentrate the stratosphere with projectiles. Whether the Colonel's conclusions would be made public immediately or would trickle into a scientific journal signed simply 'C. A. Lindbergh' as did his original paper recently on the 'mechanical heart' he designed, was a matter of conjecture.

"There is nothing that we can say relative to the conference or work right now," Dr. Goddard told newsmen. "However, an announcement will be made within a short time by Mr. Guggenheim and the Colonel."

"Harry F. Guggenheim whose family foundation has assisted in financing the Goddard experiments, was flown here Sunday by Lindbergh.

Col. Lindbergh likely will spend another day or two at the Goddard workshop here and the 60-foot rocket tower 17 miles to the Northwest.

"Dr. Goddard declined to comment on whether he would fire a rocket for his visitors, and all curious persons were halted 200 yards from the tower, which is situated on an arroyo scarred slope in a desert-like area where the only verdure is an occasional clump of Spanish bayonet and dwarfed cactus.

HOLDUP IN WARREN

Returning from a dance at Meckmak at 2:45 this morning Guy Smith of North Windham was held up by three men in the vicinity of the Life Saver Cabins in Warren. Grabbing Smith roughly the three men went through his pockets, taking $34. Smith, who is employed on the State Highway job at Camden could give only a meagre description of the robbers. State Patrolman Foley investigated.

BOWDOIN'S LARGEST

Although registration figures at Bowdoin College will not be complete for three or four days, indications are that all records will be broken. Not only is the student body expected to number approximately 610, the largest in the history of Bowdoin, but the freshman class, with 183 already admitted and 40 taking entrance examinations, is certain to exceed the 1932 total of 180.

More Than 20,000 Present At Union Fair Yesterday Afternoon and Evening—The Pari-Mutuel Races

There was not a large crowd on the opening day of North Knox Fair, but was so much larger than any previous Tuesday had been as to show the interest in and popularity of pari-mutuel betting. Many went to Union to see what it was all about, and found themselves drawn into the fascinating sport—some to rejoice at unexpected winnings, some to lament minor losses and some to smilingly congratulate themselves upon having broken even.

The articles which appeared in this newspaper served to give many readers a fair insight into the legalized diversion, but it is not until you are in the paddock, see the groups at the various betting and pay-off windows, and hear the silvery voice of Frank Whitman explain the details that you fairly catch the spirit. The various bulletin boards tell you the rest. Still another eloquent detail is seen in the fragments of useless tickets with which the ground gradually begins to be cluttered.

Frank Whitman is an expert figuring the pari-mutuel

Whether you bet or don't it is a wonderful system over which the genial gentleman from Putnam, Conn., presides. How do they handle so much money so promptly and with such little confusion.

Your winnings are likely to be small, but surer if you bet "Place" or "Show," and they are likely to assume formidable proportions if you bet on the horse farthest removed from being a favorite, but if you know horse-races, or have friends who were born and bred to that sport you are quite likely to bet "on the nose"—a straight ticket which will double or treble your money, if your horse doesn't "break" or get set back for running.

The best pay-off on a straight bet Tuesday was $9.40 in the very first race, when Foll, owned by ex-Senator H. C. Buzzell of Belfast, beat out Bobelwyn, the Machias bay gelding driven by Henry Clukey, formerly of Rockland.

The best pay-off based on a short-ender was $35.40 paid to each of the three persons who bet on Calumet Bassett, owned and driven by Fred Carini, the well known and well liked Rockland horseman. This occurred in the seventh race, and when Fred came back in front of the stand to be introduced by the starter, he got an ovation which brought to his cheeks a blush akin to that seen on the peaches he sells when he is not at the stables.

The sport of kings

The starter, by the way, was Oscar Tolman of Tremont, a former Rockland boy who has been following the races since he learned to walk without assistance. The megaphone is no longer an adjunct to the starter's natural voice; the Gratrix public address system sends it to the far corners of the field clear as a bell. Mr. Tolman did a very fine piece of work Tuesday.

Between whistles Uncle Cyrus, the singing sheriff, indulged in his humorous dialogues, and vaudeville acts of unusual excellence were interspersed.

The best race Tuesday was the free for all, the first heat of which was won by Northern Knight, the second by Jingle Bells, and the third by Klata

Yesterday's Proceedings

The pari-mutuel betting was not nearly as large as had been expected, the total being $6219. The daily double was won by Dick Volo in the first race and Royal Hanover in the third, netting the investors $26.40 apiece. THE GRAND WORK AT GOOD WILL

Maine's Foremost Institution For Work Among Needy and Deserving Boys

Rev. Mr. Hinkley, the founder, is president of the Association and editor of the Good Will Record, the monthly publication. The Home is sadly handicapped at the present time for lack of funds for current expenses, as a large deficit has been accruing during the last few years.

Walter P. Hinkley, son of the Founder, has worked with the father since graduation from Bowdoin, 26 years ago. General administrative superintendent for fourteen years.

Methodist Church Sunday evening. About sixty beautifully colored slides of grounds, buildings and activities of the children were shown. Outlining the development from its beginning with one old farm house, purchased by funds saved by tithing, the work now represents sixteen homes, three school buildings, chapel, administration buildings, two libraries and a museum, in which is a natural history exhibit, said to be one of the best in New England.

The youth development program is a fourfold one, having religious, intellectual, social and physical activities. Many well known christian men and women, in all walks of life owe their training to this worthy institution.

In showing the picture of the Biblical Library, Miss Arnst told the interesting story of a Testament there, which had been carried by a former Good Will boy to the battlefields of France during the World War. After a battle, the Testament was found by his dead body, together with a letter written and sealed to his mother when he was at Good Will, and one partially written to Dr. Hinkley, and still unsealed, evidently written just before the battle. The first letter was written to Miss Maud Pratt of Rockland, then a matron at Good Will, where her brother, Harry Pratt, was a teacher. Miss Arnst will present the work next Sunday evening at a joint meeting of the Baptist and Methodist Churches in Thomaston.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had to live my life again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

"WHEN SUMMER DIES"
When summer dies, the leaves are falling fast.
In fitful eddies on the chilly blast,
And fields lie blank upon the bare hillside
Where erst the poppy flaunted in its pride.
And woodbine on the breeze its fragrance cast.

And where the hawthorn scattered for its creamy petals in the sweet spring-tide
Red berries hang, for birds a glad repast
When summer dies.

Gone are the cowslips and the daisies
And wide
The swallow to a warmer clime hath fled.
The beech has shed its store of bitter mast,
And days are drear and skies are overcast.
But love will warm our hearts
Whate'er betide
When summer dies.

Turn thou to thy God: keep mercy and judgment, and wait on thy God continually.—Hos. 12:6.

NEW YORK'S AMBITION

It is the world-known city of New York that now advances the ambitious purpose of sponsoring, for the years 1939-40, a World's Fair of proportions so huge as must set it foremost in the list of these public municipal demonstrations. Even surpassing Chicago, a most daring proposal. It is especially interesting to note that the already formulated plans select the opening day to commemorate the historical 150th anniversary of the inauguration, in that city, of George Washington as the first President of the United States, and the establishment in the same year of our National Government. Nor is it an idle thought to hold, that the date, glancing backward, will mark as well the defeat of present attempts to rock from its foundations the form of government thus inaugurated under the hands of its first President. That would be another reason for the celebration by a World's Fair, and none will question the applause that the whole country would join hands in giving to it.

OUR COLORED BROTHER WINS

Plainly, the Negro was the better man. That was the unanimous conclusion of the hundred-thousand spectators who thronged the stadium and hilariously enjoyed the promptness with which the gentleman of African lineage set about the business of battering the countenance of the California white man with what the reporters list as terrific pounding, and so put a triumphant end to the whole business in two minutes and fifty seconds of the fourth round. Here is registered a momentous progress in the sporting life of a country that sees one of the no longer ago despised race lifted to a level of sporting recognition that only a few years ago was sneeringly denied him. First, emancipation, then the ballot, now the plaudits that attend upon the wrested championship of the Ring.

Verily our colored brother, as—following the ceremony at Appomattox—he used by the softer-minded to be known, has had a varied and tortuous path of it, but it becomes increasingly evident that the people, in the language of the day, have got to sit up and take notice of him. The Yankee Stadium demonstrates the truth of this conclusion.

REMEMBERING SHAKESPEARE

This business of book collecting has to it many fascinating angles, against which the adherent with the narrow purse hesitates to adventure. But from afar off the multitude of this rank enjoy the thrill of viewing the achievements of him who gathers with the unlimited bank-check. This Dr. Rosenbach, for example, whose collections of rare books already represent the expenditure of millions of money, and still the fascinating work goes on. This time it is a Shakespeare of the first folio, which in that far-off day of 1623 was brought to this country in the hands of that remarkable Puritan preacher, Cotton Mather. There are a few of these first folios continuing to survive the three centuries of their existence, but so few they are, that when today one changes hands the price paid for it reaches toward the hundred thousand dollar mark. Dr. Rosenbach has enjoyed the ownership of several of them, but here is a copy unique, in its association with the great Puritan leader who brought the book from England in the first ship that followed the Mayflower and whose descendants have seen it carefully preserved down to the present day.

If in any way Shakespeare himself has cognizance of what is going on in the sale today of a book of his for a sum greater than he had known in the totalled earnings of his lifetime, we should be interested to listen to his views in that connection. Preferably in a sonnet.

SHOWING THE AUTOMOBILE

The change in the time of sending out the new automobile models, from the spring months to those of the autumn, is regarded with general favor. Already we see the announcements put forth of exhibitions upon various scales to be held in the larger and more progressive communities. We wish Rockland, as centrally featuring these active business parts of the State, might find it possible to stage some form of this semi-public exhibition. It will be recalled that a few years ago, through a number of seasons, our people had this annual opportunity of a first view of the models soon to be set up by the trade. If not on so great a scale as the larger centers permit, might it not be possible for our city to be made a center of attraction to the motor lovers of a considerable region hereabout. We believe our people would be glad to patronize such an exhibit and give to it some practical form of support.

Last Night's Show

It was certainly a holiday crowd which milled around the grandstand end along the midway last night. The brilliant lights made it a gay scene and everybody appeared to be happy. Evidences of intoxication, expected in such a tremendous gathering, were but slightly in evidence. With Art Snow, the famous singing shuff, as master of ceremonies, the vaudeville acts went off to the delight of onlookers, having a somewhat sensational interruption when some mischief maker sneaked into the fireworks zone and touched off the set piece which was to have been the finale.

The drum corps of Frank D. Hazeltine Post of Belfast and that of James P. Fitzgerald Post of Augusta did their strutting in front of the stand, and many times got the "big hand" advised by the official announcer, Mr. Gratrix.

Capt. Joe Young, in charge of the State Highway Police contingent told Race Manager McKinley that the Union Fair was the cleanest show he attended.

In the Exhibition Hall

The comparatively small display of apples impressed itself upon all who visited this important department of the fair, and one doesn't have to search far for the cause. The severity of the past two winters has wiped out about 90 percent of the apple trees in Union and vicinity, where formerly such rich crops were harvested. A year ago 130 C.C.C. men were sent into that locality and worked seven weeks cutting down dead trees. Then the government sent tractors to pull out the stumps, some of which were manufactured into firewood, and some of which are still seen in the desolated orchards.

Only a few years ago the apple-buyers visited Northern Knox in groups, and apples were bought on the trees; today the apple buyer piles his trade in localities unsmitten by the Frost King, and the farmers must wrest their living from the soil by some other method.

Trees which did survive were mainly McIntosh Reds and the Delicious, and these have done fairly well. There are also some Northern Spys of good quality. Little or no spraying was done this summer.

The sweet corn crop was generally good, although there were some sections where the dry weather interfered. The Monmouth Canning Co. has utilized much of the corn grown around Union, under the superintendency of W. J. Robbins. Crosby White corn is canned at this factory.

About half a crop of potatoes, said Herbert L. Grinnell, secretary of the North Knox Society who keeps his finger closely on the pulse of agricultural affairs in that section of the county. Dry and hot weather interfered greatly with this crop and rust also got in its ill-favored work.

Beans turned out well. A large crop and good quality.

With milk commanding a higher price, the dairy business has been good, and herds have been increased. Jerseys and Holsteins continue to be the favored breed in that section. Charles M. Burgess, Charles T. Burgess, Herbert Hawes and P. C. Oakes being the largest owners. A new law requires the government testing of cows for Bangs disease within 60 days before they are exhibited at the fair.

The government's processing tax has put swine out of business in this section of the county.

Past horses will perform in the nine races scheduled for today. The entries for the free for all are Volunteer, Alvin Guy, Plucky Pluto, Edna McKiyo and Topworthy, while in the 2.13 class will be seen Mildred May, Jingle Bells, Klata Direct, Lady Locket and John Judy.

END WITH VICTORY

Camden Shells Won Decisively Over Vinalhaven—Middleton's One Bad Inning

The Camden Shells ended their season in a blaze of glory when they took the strong Vinalhaven team into camp by the score of 6 to 2.

Al Middleton, former Red Sox flinger was the victim of a savage attack in the second which spelled victory. Flanagan, first up reached first on a boot by Hopkins, Wadsworth was patched, Mayhew reached on a fielder's choice Flanagan being forced to third. Bennett walked to load the bases. I Simmons tripled to deep right center to clean the bases. Plaisted grounded out second to first. Lord singled to left scoring I. Simmons. M. Simmons tripled to right center scoring Lord. Dalley grounds out short to first. Five runs three hits, one walk, one hit pitch, one error, on left.

Vinalhaven threatened in every inning but the fourth and fifth and the game was never on ice until the last man was out in the ninth. Vinalhaven brought a large crowd with them including a band which never had the heart to toot their tooters.

SOME TIGHT SOCCER

Rockland and Rumford In a 3 To 3 Deadlock—Game Played In Rumford

Rockland's soccer team traveled to Rumford last Sunday to play the leaders of the State of Maine Soccer League, in what turned out to be the best game that Rockland has played to date. The game started with Dawson kicking off for Rumford. It was easily seen from the start that both teams meant business.

As the visiting players were pressing the game for a start, Thorpe put in a hard shot, just missing the goal. Rumford swung the play to the Rockland end of the field and Scottie opened the scoring for Rumford after 20 minutes of play. Rumford kept forcing the play at that time. Larson came out of his goal to save, but before he could get back and settled, Johnnie Dawson met the ball with his head and shot it through the goal, putting Rumford two goals in the lead.

Rockland served the play into the Rumford goal mouth, and after five minutes pressure, H. Melquist opened the scoring for Rockland. Five minutes later, Thorpe equalized for Rockland when he hit the corner of the goal post. The goal keeper was unable to hold the ball and it went over the line. The first half of the game ended with both teams scoring two goals.

Things did not look so good for Rockland at the start of the second half, as it had to play against the wind, but it seemed to play harder than ever. Both crews went at it hard taking the ball from end to end of the field. It was a pleasure to watch this game, as both teams played clean soccer. After 20 minutes play in the second half, Berglund scored for Rockland, putting it in the lead.

Rumford applied pressure for a time, but was unable to score. A foul was awarded against Rockland when H. Melquist tripped Hutchinson who fell, hurting his knee, and was unable to continue playing. It is an old injury and likely to keep him out of the game for the rest of the season. J. Whytock took his place and played the remaining 17 minutes. Rockland took hold of the game again, Berglund sending over a good one which Thorpe headed over the bar. Rumford pressed again. Larson worked well for Rockland for E. Dawson put in one which gave him no chance to save. A tie, with 10 minutes to play.

A foul was awarded against Rockland. Hickman took the free kick and hit the cross bar. Rockland cleared and the ball went back to the Rumford end again. Thorpe got the ball and was going through the Rumford defense when the referee blew his whistle as Berglund of the Rockland team was in an offside position. Thorpe never stopped, although the referee had blown his whistle three times, but went right on and put the ball through the goal. The gain was disallowed and a free kick given to Rumford. Rockland protested the decision, claiming that Berglund did not play the ball. As no more scoring was done, the game ended in a draw, Rumford, 3; Rockland, 3.

Rumford—Isobatus, Don, Hickman, Hutchinson, Campbell, McGaffery, J. Dawson, Hosie, E. Dawson, Whytock, Pratt.

Rockland—Larson, Falk, Gus Melquist, McFall, Underwood, Ellison, Berglund, Lantz, Thorpe, H. Melquist, Holmberg.

Referee, J. Don; linesmen, Whytock, Benson.

FARM BUREAU

Agriculture

The membership campaign of the Knox-Lincoln Farm Bureau started this week. The men in Jefferson and Washington have nearly completed their lists. The solicitors are: Arthur Hall and Wallace Spear of Jefferson, and Herbert Cunningham of Washington.

Work is already getting underway in the pullorum disease testing schedule. Already there are 15 men—having 14,877 hens—who have sent in applications for having their flocks tested for this disease. This is nearly 1000 hens more than last year.

The out-of-state demand for eggs from Maine flocks that have been tested by the State, has been very good. Those who are testing are as follows: Two of them, Mrs. Charles Hendrickson, Wiscasset, and Albert Frederickson, Tenant's Harbor, are new. The others tested last year—West Alna, L. E. Carney, Sheepscot, 725; George Coleman, Wiscasset, 1400; Raymond Hamlin, Wiscasset, 75; Mrs. Charles Hendrickson, Wiscasset, 880; Danarickota, Austin V. Sprout, South Bristol, 410; Friendship, S. T. Jameson, 812; North Edgecomb, Edgar Smith, 1710; W. W. Cochran, 800; Rockland, H. W. Little, 1800; Thomaston, M. M. And in particular because Stan was at the pains to say that The Courier-Gazette was a regular visitor in his home, and moreover he was a regular reader and admirer of its contents. WILL GOD LET ME THROUGH?

[For The Courier-Gazette] On a cliff by the sea I am sitting to rest, Just God and the sea and me; The sun's blazed a trail As she sank in the west, A trail that reached over the sea

As the soft twilight nears And the trail dimmer grows, I pause and wonder back by year, From the start of the trail, Where it leads, no one knows, But with God there is nothing to fear

So I'll keep to the trail, And as long as life lasts There's nothing else I can do, To where dear ones wait At the beautiful gate— Will God open and let me through? M. C. Vinahaven

In the fish line people who carry excess fat should NOT eat salmon or mackerel—they are fattening foods.

But plenty of green vegetables—go light on fatty meats, butter, cream and sugary sweets—do not overeat.

Take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts with the juice of half a lemon every morning before breakfast. This helps to keep you free from acid and keeps liver, gall bladder, bowels and kidneys in fine working order.

As excess fat goes you'll feel more active—more ambitious—more energetic—Kruschen costs as low as 40 cents. No more cathartics—no more laxatives and no constipation when you take your daily dose of Kruschen. For sale by Blaisdell Pharmacy, Corner Drug store or any good druggist.

LET KIDNEYS FLUSH OUT 3 LBS. A DAY

Clean Out 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes

Nature put over 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters in your kidneys to strain the waste matter out of the blood. Kidneys should pass 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter.

When the passing of water is scanty, with smarting and burning, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your body may take up some of these poisons causing serious trouble. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, which have been used successfully by millions of people for over 40 years.

They give happy relief and help the kidneys to flush out 3 pounds a day. Insist on Doan's Pills.

At a simple but charming home wedding last evening Ruth Mildred, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodbury L. Richards of this city and Wilbur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur F. Strong, of Thomaston were united in marriage at the Rockland street home of the bride's parents, Rev. Charles E. Brooks of the Methodist Church performing the impressive double ring ceremony, the wedding march being played by Mrs. Brooks.

The bride was attended by her sister Virginia and the groom by his brother Walter. The bride was wearing a white colored velvet dress. Only the members of the immediate families were present at the ceremony and the collation which followed. The wedding cake was the handwork of Mrs. J. E. Stevens. There were many beautiful wedding gifts.

Mrs. Strong graduated from Rockland High School in 1932 and on the day of her wedding had completed her three year course of training at the Knox County General Hospital. Mr. Strong graduated from Thomaston High School in 1933. They have an apartment all prepared for occupancy on Orange street.

Tenants Harbor Days
I do not know whether 50 years ago the berries stayed on the bushes late, or whether there was a second crop, but I find this entry in Dad's diary: "Sept. 22, 1885: Did not get up this morning till 6 (his usual time was 4:30); about 9 went to the woods after berries. Got six quarts of black and huckleberries." Picking berries was not the only sport in vogue 50 years ago.

"Sept. 16, 1885: There was quite a party went fishing from here today. Mr. Bean, warden of State Prison, H. H. Hewett of Thomaston, Capt. Levi Hart, Capt. David Giles, Walter Mathews, N. Hall and others, caught quite a fare of fish and had a good time."

Where were the Spanish mackerel, or tuna fish 50 years ago? I read in a recent Boston Herald of a man harpooning a tuna weighing 920 pounds, and they catch them with rod and line weighing 600 to 700 pounds. Have these giant fish been induced to come north in the summer by the Maine Publicity Bureau as an attraction to visitors, or are the tuna visiting Maine waters of their own free will and accord?

"Sept. 17, 1885: The yacht, Puritan, beat the English yacht yesterday. (I do not find any reference to the other races of the series. Was it three straight? And we still have the "Mug."")

Ministers came, and ministers went, at the Harbor the same as at other churches of the Baptist denomination. As Dad was collector and treasurer of the Third Baptist Church for 10 years, 1884 to 1894, his diaries have the record of salary paid, and when paid. The following entry shows the close of Rev. Fred A. Vinal's pastorate:

"Sept. 27, 1885: Mr. Vinal preached his farewell sermon: he is done, he has been here four years and nine months." I remember him very well. A tall man, wore the conventional frock coat and white bow tie allotted to clergymen 50 years ago. He was a member of Eureka Lodge. The mortuary record shows that he died in New York, Feb. 1902.

HOOR OF WINGS
(For The Courier-Gazette)
It was enough for good or ill I was imagination's bird.
Some plumage clings about me still.
The eagle in my heart is stirred
By shapely memories that crowd,
By countless space, by tides that creep,
By the impetuosity of cloud,
Or music lifting out of sleep.

Fled as a meteor I drifted,
Quicker than swallows, feet as hounds;
I rose, and by a dream was lifted—
You could not snare me with your hands.

O legendary prodigal—
There is no sign to prove these things:
The flight were problematical—
Save for the star dust on my wings.

(CHAPTER XXXVIII.)

Christopher Newbert

Christopher Newbert 1st, the ancestor of John and Christopher 2d, was one of the first settlers of what was known as the Plantation of Broad Bay, later incorporated as the town of Waldoborough. He came from the walled city of Nuremberg in Bavaria (Germany) in the year 1748 with his wife and four children, two boys and two girls. The boys named Christopher (2d) born in 1736, and John, born in 1739. The older Christopher seems to have been a man of considerable importance and at the time of the incorporation of Waldoborough as a town in 1773, was elected one of the selectmen.

He settled upon the east side of the Medomac River upon what is now (1925) known as the Gorham Castner Farm, on the road leading from Waldoborough Village to Friendship. When the old German Meeting House was erected at Waldoboro about 1770 he donated the lot at Meeting House Cove.

The location was near that point in the river where travelers passing east and west were ferried across and the ferry probably influenced the location at this place. There was a graveyard at the same place. The church was removed to its present location upon the west side of the river in 1795, and many of the bodies were removed to the present burial place near the Church.

No record of the death of Christopher Newbert (1st) or his place of burial has been discovered, but it is probable that he was buried in the old yard which was located upon his farm, and above 75 yards from the river, upon the east side, and upon the south side of the ravine at Light's Ferry a little below the present location of the German Church.

Christopher Newbert 2d (Newbit)

Christopher Newbert 2d, (Newbit) of Appleton, was a private in Capt. Philip M. Ulmer's Company, Col. Samuel McCobb's Massachusetts Regiment in the expedition against Castine, Maine, serving from July 8 to Sept. 28, 1779.

He lost his right arm by a cannon ball which glanced around a tree July 28, 1779, in a battle with the British at Majorbigwaduce (Castine) and Feb. 20, 1781, the General Court of Massachusetts voted him half pay as a soldier to commence from Sept. 28, 1779, the time of his discharge. Major Philip M. Ulmer, who was his company commander when he was wounded, in a letter to the General Court states that he "behaved himself as a good soldier whilst under my command." He died Sept. 1826 at the age of 65 years and is buried on the shores of Sennebeck Pond in Appleton with only a field stone at his grave. His grave was identified by Albert H. Newbert, his grandson, whose father pointed it out to him when he was but fifteen years old. A Revolutionary marker now identifies the grave (in 1930). His wife's name was Mary.

Christopher Newbert settled in what was Barretts town about 1782. This town was later incorporated as Hope, in 1804, and that portion where his farm was located was set off to the town of Appleton in 1843.

Oct. 29, 1813, Christopher acquires by sheriff's sale from John Newbit 62 acres of land on Sennebeck Pond then in the town of Hope. He settled on this point of land at the north end of Sennebeck Pond. Later he mortgages this farm of 30 acres, and part of Lot No. 29, 30 acres, to Daniel F. Harding. An excellent plan of this farm appears on the records in Knox County Registry of Deeds in the Lincoln Waldo and Hancock copies, Book 22, Page 563.

By a resolve of the General Court of Massachusetts, John Newbert, Christopher's father, was paid 13 pounds in full for all surgeons bills and other expenses incurred by the loss of his son's arm in the battle at Castine. But misfortune still followed Christopher as he lost his right eye, and afterwards fractured his right leg so badly that it scarcely escaped amputation. Notwithstanding these infirmities it is almost incredible with what skill he would drive his team, load stones, and do other work with his left arm.

When he died in 1826, it appears by the government reports that the total pension paid to him aggregated $2,790.

Christopher Newbert served in the war of 1812 as a Private in Capt. P. Keizers Co., Lieut. Col. S. Thatcher's Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteers Militia, which was raised in Waldoboro and served at Camden, Maine.

Aug. 9, 1815, during a terrific thunder storm lightning struck Christopher Newbert's house then located in that part of Hope which was later annexed to Appleton, and killed a child belonging to Jotham Davis.

TWO ERA PROJECTS

What Was Done At the Public Landing and Vinalhaven Baseball Field

The current issue of the Maine ERA Monthly deals with two extensive Knox County projects, and here is what is said about them:

Rockland Public Landing

For many years various organizations and public spirited citizens of Rockland and the surrounding seaport communities had recognized the need for a boat landing which would be available the year round. This need has now been filled, by the construction of the present Public Landing with the help of ERA labor and public subscription.

The property used was for a number of years an unsightly public dump. The first step in its development was made possible by the residents of the southern part of the city who raised money to cover part of this area, with loam. Also at this time a narrow walk was built to a small landing which was used by small boats during the summer months. The number of boats using this, despite the lack of sufficient depth of the water at low tide, indicated clearly the need of more adequate facilities.

In 1926 the Curtis-Wright Corporation became interested in the development of a seaplane base in Rockland, and leased adjoining property for this purpose. A ramp was built and a bulkhead was erected across the face of the entire dump property. Then the whole area was covered with crushed rock and a portion of it graded and covered with loam.

This improvement in the property was reflected in increased traffic to such an extent that a Yacht Club was organized. Private subscription enabled the club to construct a building to adequately care for its members. A larger landing stage was provided and the club prospered until the depression began to be felt. At this time the walkway, was in such a state of disrepair that it was deemed unwise to continue its use.

The city then took over the Yacht Club, and in February 1934, an ERA project was approved for the erection of two granite piers to replace the walkway, and the present boat landing began to take form.

An unused railroad bridge 64 feet long was donated by the Rockland Rockport Lime Corporation and used to span the gap from the bulkhead to the first pier. The gap between the first and second pier was spanned by steel beams, supplied by the city, and of sufficient strength, to accommodate the passage of loaded trucks.

The deck of the pier is built of reinforced concrete with a guard rail of pipe posts and wire. Ducts for power lines and water pipes were laid in the concrete, so that the entire pier and landing stage is lighted at night. This electric current is also used by boat owners wishing to recharge their batteries.

Another addition to this landing is an old ferry barge, contributed by the State. This barge is 34 feet in length and serves as a landing stage for boats, which are to remain in dock for any length of time. This leaves the other stage 50 feet long free for the landing and taking on of passengers. The third stage landing is used for small rowboats and dinghies.

Without the assistance of the Federal Government that supplied the labor in the form of an ERA project the people of Rockland would be without adequate landing facilities. The necessity of this boat landing can also be explained by the fact that the people living on the islands surrounding Rockland have never had any safe place to land, especially during the winter time when often illness and injuries necessitate quick transportation to the hospital at Rockland.

Vinalhaven's Ball Park

A project on which the ERA, the town officials and private citizens have cooperated to the fullest extent is the athletic field recently finished at Vinalhaven.

About thirty-five years ago Vinalhaven granite was being cut and shipped throughout the country, the harbor was crowded with fishing vessels and the men without any other form of entertainment took up baseball. At first all the crude conveniences at hand were used. The use of a piece of swampy pasture land was obtained from the owner. Trees were cut, stumps were grubbed, open ditches dug, and the worst parts of the field filled in. From time to time other improvements were made, a diamond constructed and a makeshift bleacher constructed. There still however was one serious drawback, the high tides flooded the diamond, and as a consequence the out-field was damp and spongy.

To correct these inconveniences the town decided to use the ERA appropriation to build a new athletic field. With the land surface about sea level, proper drainage together with some form of tide control, and protection against the sea, was imperative. Additional land was obtained from the owner and complete plans were laid out. Actual work was started late in July, and men from the relief roll worked over 9,500 hours on this project.

Approximately 1,250 feet of ditch was dug to an average depth and width of three feet and over half of this was paved with granite and walled with refuse paving blocks. The rest of the ditch was walled and rock filled. The entire ditch system empties in one main drain, which ingrains under the road emptying into a tide gate. This is a heavy, swinging, close fitting gate hung over a rock-walled trench through which the water passes out to open sea. The pressure of the incoming tide then closes it and prevents flooding the playing field with sea water.

To make the field finally perfect the whole diamond was filled and graded with sand and gravel. Logs were peeled and two new bleachers constructed with a seating capacity of 480 people two inch planks being used for seats and flooring. The greater part of the lumber was donated by the townspeople and the rest of the materials furnished by the town.

Last winter part of the field was banked and flooded to make a skating and hockey rink, and future plans call for the construction of tennis courts.

BIG BOND ISSUE

The Central Maine Power Company filed with the Securities Exchange Commission Saturday a registration statement for a refunding bond issue not to exceed $29,500,000. The bond would be dated Oct. 1, 1935, mature in 25 years and carry an interest rate not in excess of 4 1/2 percent. The registration statement asks the right to present certain details as to the present issues that are to be redeemed, etc., in an amended report later.

Timely Notes Concerning the Progress Of Miss McKnight's Schools

Weekly bulletin of Knox County Association for Rural Religious Education.

The very day Lincoln was assassinated he said to Chaplain Merwin: "Merwin, with the help of the people we have cleaned up a colossal job. Slavery is abolished. After reconstruction, the next great question will be the overthrow and abolition of the liquor traffic; and you know, Merwin, that my head and my heart and my hand and my purse will go into that work."

Prompted by this wise statement from one of the wisest Americans of all times and by the propaganda now being broadcast by the Moderation League of New York City and the Wine Growers Association, Miss Margaret McKnight, director, planned her lessons last week around the dangers of alcoholic beverages, impressing upon the boys and girls that moderation is never really temperance. The first lesson was given to show the nature and action of alcohol so that the boys and girls might intelligently meet the temptations being brought increasingly to them through magazines, newspapers and radio. Illustrations used were the action of alcohol on fire in contrast with water, that no fire is ever put out by alcohol; the action of alcohol on fats showing what takes place in the body when the fats surrounding nerves are attacked by alcohol; the action of alcohol on bread showing how the water is absorbed leaving the bread, the same action taking place in the body with the water drawn from the tissues by alcohol, leaving them dry and irritated; the action of alcohol on the white of an egg, the consistency best illustrating the protoplasm of the cell. Through these illustrations, more eloquent than words the children were able to form their own conclusions. In one of the schools Miss McKnight found boys and girls unfamiliar with the names of the various liquors thereby reflecting the 83 years of protection Maine had given her people from this evil.

Schools in Miss McKnight's district are closed today due to the Union Fair.

Thursday the cradle roll party took place at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Brown at Hope Corner, with Mrs. Abbie Baird, cradle roll superintendent, as hostess, assisted by Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Esther Herrick, Cake and ice cream were served. Present were Mrs. Bert Hall and sons Asa and Richard, Mrs. Ethel Libby and son Neil; Mrs. Helen Pease and son Montford; Mrs. Evelyn Brown and nephew Herbert; Mrs. Julia Harwood, Mrs. Esther Herrick, Miss McKnight, Mrs. Etta Fernald, Mrs. Mabel Wright, Mrs. Lizzie Harwood.

The teachers' meeting Thursday night had all teachers and officers present with the exception of one. Two new classes were announced, one primary year two, teacher Minerva Johnson, and junior year one, teacher Doris Caven. Miss Johnson was elected secretary to succeed Edwin Baum, resigned.

Plans have been made for a baked bean supper to be held at Clark Island Oct. 4, to add another sum to the ceiling fund.

ELMER ALLEN'S CHAT
Genial Booster Pays His Respect To St. George Colts—Wants Soccer, Also

The baseball season is about over as far as amateur games are concerned but the big leagues are still at it.

Baseball fans are looking forward to the World Series which begins next Wednesday.

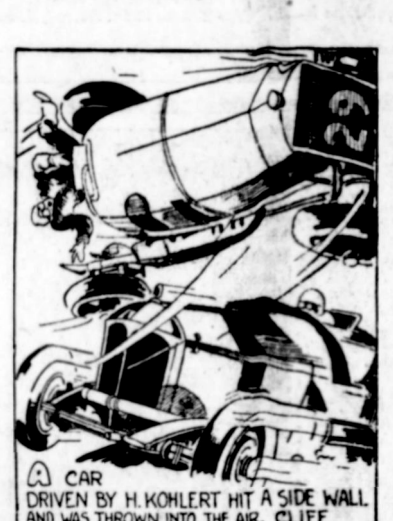

We were glad that the seats in the grandstand were free this year and hereafter, except on Labor Day celebrations when the receipts from the stand go to the ball players.

The ball boys have given the town some good sport this year and we are proud of them. Summer visitors like the ball games as well as the home folks. We have a nice athletic field and good stands—a field such as ours is an ornament to any town.

Next year we hope to see some soccer games played here, as well as baseball. These games draw large crowds. Let us try to have one next Fourth of July. All those in favor say, "Aye!"

The happiest man in Knox County last week was in Thomaston when the High School of that town beat St. George High School 1 to 0. But Clayton Hunnewell was a joyful specimen of happiness when his High School team turned the tables on the Thomaston High nine to the tune of 12 to 0. Polkey pitched a masterful game Friday afternoon, allowing only one hit. Only one player on the Thomaston nine reached second base and he was easily out. The St. George boys got so many hits it is said the scorer lost count.

ECONOMY HINTS FOR MOTORISTS OF ROCKLAND

About two years ago, a 70 octane rating gasoline was developed in the East by the Richfield Oil Corporation of New York to deliver maximum mileage. Realizing, however, that top efficiency from a gasoline is dependent upon certain simple contributory precautions, Richfield points out a few steps to be taken which will enable you to save on gasoline consumption. Gasoline is wasted when—

- you accelerate too much in second gear.
- you use the choke excessively.
- your tires are not inflated to the correct pressure.
- you drive too fast.
- your battery is not fully charged or up to par in other respects.
- you use an oil too heavy for your car.
- you let the motor idle for long periods.
- your spark plugs are not clean or properly adjusted.
